we hope that the above will be plain enough to be understood by all—and that all who advertise will act in accordance with our requirements, instead of trying for hours to lower our prices. The Foreman of the Office has no time to spend in bargaining.—This is without respect to persons: we have no disposition to do work cheaper for a close-fisted customer than for our liberal patrops, who are willing to let than for our liberal patrons, who are willing to let

The HERALD has an extensive circulation, an ! business men will find it advtantageous to make us of its columns as a means of communicating with the public generally.

CASH.

Since we have enlarged the BARDSTOWN HERALD our expenses have been considerably increased; we are therefore compelled to adopt the CASH SYSTEM. Our object in doing this, is to enable us to meet promptly the demands on us for CASH for Paper, Ink, Labor, Office rent &c., &c., Could we COLLECT AS WE GO, it would be better for us as well as for our customers. From those who advertise yearly we expect payments quarterly

For all transient Job Work and Advertising, the money must be paid when the work is done-this rule is without exception.

Mr. Gallagher's writings everywere abound in those felicitous descriptions, which, in a few well chosen words, flash upon the mind the sum and substance of what in the hands of many When gale-like breezes sweep the ancient would become tedious and inflated. Equally expressive is the closing verse of "The wreck at sea."

"Gaped wide the deep-down plunged the wreck-Up rose a fearful yell-Death's wings flapped o'er that sinking deck-A shudder !-all was still."

In describing the death of a female invalid Mr. Gallagher has disposed of his theme in a manner which for propriety and beauty of expression and tenderness of sentiment has seldom been equaled in English Poetry. Two with nature has been characterized as attack of Charivari, and the Journal sand were put to press immediately af-

Lay white, she passed, and slept in death.

The greenness of the leaf is gone, The beauty of the bloom is riven, The birds to other climes have flown, And there's an angel more in Heaven. "

In the "Storm at Sea," nature's ace is reflected with all the elements

"The sun was low-a flood of light Slept on the glittering ocean And night's dark robes were journeying up With slow and solema motion ; And ever and anon was heard The sea-mew's shrick—ill-omened bird. Down sunk the sun ; the gathering mist Rose proudly up before it, And streamed upon the lurid air, A blood red banner o'er it : Frowning, and piled up heap on heap, Dense clouds o'er spread the mighty deep, Darker and pitchy black they grew-And rolled and wheeled and onward flew, Like marshalling of men. Then trembled timid souls with fear—Glistened in beauty's eye the tear— And " Fatherland " was doubly dear-But brave hearts quailed not then. Soon the rough tar's prophetic eye Saw many a floating shroud on high, And many a coffin drifting by-And on the criving gale Beheld the spirits of the deep. Above-around-in fury sweep-And heard the dead's low wail, And the demon's muttered curse. And on the fierce and troubled wind, Rode death-and following close behind, A dark and sombre hearse And soon the bark a wreck was driven , Before the free, wild winds of heaven, Now shrank with fear each gallant heart-Bended was many a knee-And the last prayer was effered up, God of the deep, to Thee! Muttered the angry heavens still, And murmured still the sea-And old and sterner hearts bowed down.

God of the deep, to Thee! And still the wreck was onward driven, Upon the wide, wild sea-And man's proud soul to fate was given, Woman's, oh God, to thee! Gaped wide the deep-down plunged the Up rose a fearful yell-Death's wings finpped o'er that sinking deck— A shudder!—all was still.

to harmony. No hours of leisure have ever been beguiled by his muse, in order to render tolerable asluggish, sumptuous, or profligate existence. But his productions are the offspring of an active mind controlling an ever energised body. He has mingled the pleasant and useful in equal proportions, by seeking the groves of Parnassus for the enjoyment of refreshing bowers, and a momentary exemption from the din of toil. He has written for the people, and in their memories shall his name be embalmed. I can conce ve of nothing more painful or more calculated to awaken the interest of the visitor from abroad, than the spectacle of a people, with realy high aspirations and capabilities, borne down by the force of opposing circumstances, conscious of its own condition, but almost dispairing of improving it.

In dress, the women of Leon have the same fashions with those of Grenada, but the European styles are less common owing to the circumstance that there are fewer foreign res dents to infect the popular taste. They have an equal fondness for the cigarito; and in the street are not less proud of displacing a little foot and satin slipper .-As every where else in the world they are very attentive in their devo ions, but beyand their daily visits to the churches, rarely go out of doors, except it is in the early evening when visits are paid informally. If chance brings together a sufficient number, a "tertulia," or dance, is often improvised. Set parties or balls are of rare occurrence, and are generally given only on public occasions, and then with great ceremony.

We were witness of a tertulia, at our own house the second evening after our arrival. A dozen Senoras casually found themselves together, a dance was proposed by the gallants loitering at the balconies, and the proposition meeting with favor, they at once dispersed to bring in recruits and the "musicos." In an hour the grand came in were all ranged on one side of the room and the males on the other. This looked rather stiff, and I began to fear that a tertulia was no great matter after all. Directly however, a single couple took the floor, the music struck up, and as they moved down the room, the measure brought the lady first on one side, and then on the other. These Reprints have now been in successful operation in this country for TWENTY YEARS, and their circulation is constantly on the in-crease notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class and from numerous Eccentrics and Magazines made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guaran-tee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption. Although these works are distinguished by the shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political bjects. March 31, 1852 -12-tf TAYLOR'S FEMALE BITTERS.

The following certificates are, we think Taylor's celebrated Bitters, for sale by Dr. D. H. Cox, Bardstown, Ky.

GREENSBURG, Ky., May 24, 1847. I was a partner of Dr. Taylor in the practice of medicine for about nine years, luring which time I administered hundreds of bottles of his celebrated Female Bitters, in all the various forms of female disease; such as suppressed, painful excessive Menstruation, Green, Sickness, Whites, Barrenness, &c. I have never known a medicine to equal it, nor do I believe there is a medicine known to the world that is superior to it for the above mentioned diseases. Its effects are mild, pleasant, innocent, and inno way the least injurious. From my long experience in the use of this medicine, I can safely recommend it to every afflicted female.

D. P. WHITE, M. D. Greensburg, Ky., June 7, 1847.

We have been acquainted with Dr. Taylor's celebrated Female Bitters for a number of years; we have used them in our amilies and can with great confidence ecommend them to the public as the most valuble and innocent female medicine we have ever known.

Green County., Ky., May 24, 1847. My second wife previous to our marriage nd during her matriage with a fomer usband had been in very bad health for pwards of twenty years, so much so that he never had issue until she took Dr. Taylor's celebrated Female Bitters, which restored her to perfect health and she oon gave birth to a fine and healthy child. I have known these Bitters for about twenty years, and know them to be used n many other cases with the desired effect. I believe them to be the most valuable female medicine lever knew.

YELVERTON COWHERD. GREEN Co., Ky., April 15, 1847.

I have known Dr. Taylor's celebrated Female Bitters to have the most happy effect (in four instances) in restoring to perfeet health females who had been for a number of years suffering all that woman could suffer from those derangements to which females alone are subject; one case in particular seemed to be hopeless, having baffled the skill of eminent physicians for many years. One bottle of the above named medicine regulated her health, and she became perfectly healthy.
